Steps to Unveil your University's Potential in Accounting

PAST WEBINARS

Accountancy Opportunities Initiative. Kevin Jackson of the Illinois Master of Accounting Science (MAS) program will explain the initiative, including how it can serve HBCU students and their accounting programs. He also will seek to engage with interested HBCU accounting programs to discuss how they might offer opportunities to their students through the initiative with Illinois, as well as through replication with other partner institutions.

Date: Tuesday, June 26, 2018

Free Resources. Join representatives from the Center for Audit Quality and the American Institute of CPAs as they conduct a free webinar outlining some FREE resources that can be leveraged in your accounting and auditing classrooms. They will show examples of the wide range of resources available and explain how to navigate through them. They also will look to the HBCU community to share what other resources might be of need from the profession.

Date: Friday, November 9, 2018

FUTURE WEBINARS

How to Ensure that Your HBCUs (and Your Students) Are Ready for the Accounting and Audit Profession. During this webinar accounting professionals from the AICPA and public accounting firms will share tips on preparing career services centers and business schools for recruitment, and even provide a toolkit to help guide your efforts.

Tentative Date: Spring 2019

Looking for Ways to Advance Your Accounting Program? Join Howard and the University of Illinois to knowledge share among friends and colleagues on what works for your accounting program. "Knowledge is power. Information is liberating. Education is the premise of progress, in every society, in every family." – Kofi Annan, former Secretary General of the United Nations

The Importance of Accreditation to a Future CPA. Members of the AICPA will lead a discussion on maintaining your accreditation under the updated standards. They also will share advice on how to meeting the eligibility requirements and accreditation standards.
